--- The Louisa Chapter Daughters of the American Revolution 4-056 KY believes in Historical Preservation. It is one of our National Society's goals. We have entitled this project "Lawrence County Kentucky Schools 101". Many items of the past are forgotten without these types of projects. At one time there was 102 schools recognized in Lawrence County Kentucky.

--- We give credit to William A. Elkins, Sr. and his wife Lucy B. Elkins for their interest in history. They gave us at the encouragement long ago to do this project sometime in the future. It has been a labor of love although it has been long and arduous. This is his 1938 list of schools with original names. Some schools even had pet names.

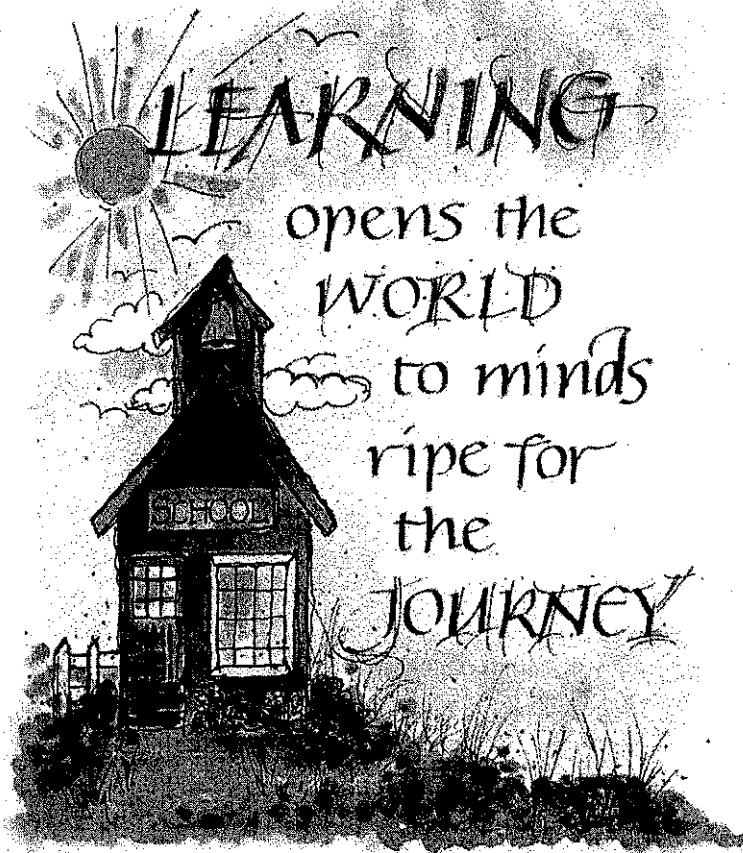

---We have invited the public to share with us anything that would add to this project; stories, pictures, names, descriptions and teachers. At this point we have accumulated fifty percent of our goal. So we are publishing what we have as Volume I. All school names will be listed in the order of the 1938 list with a number. If no information is shown then that school will be in Volume II.

---Much of this information has already been researched so the DAR has compiled everything that we found. Thanks to all those individuals that have contributed to this project. We have the deepest gratitude for your input. However some print was hard to read which may have resulted in some miss-spellings. Please excuse any errors you may find.

---We will continue to attempt to complete the remaining schools in the future. We need the public to share with us any remaining schools. If you are interested and can help we would appreciate anything.

--- You may leave your information with Patty Ferrell at the Lawrence County Public Library. She is a DAR member and Co-Chair of this project. You can also mail your information to Mary E. Reid, 2181 Hwy 2565, Louisa, KY 41230.

Thank you,
DAR Regent and Chairman

It is said that "Learning opens the world to minds ripe for the Journey." Daughters of the American Revolution members Stephanie Adkins, Sheila Kensinger, Beulah Green, Reba H. Whitt, Mary E. Reid and others are working on a Historical Preservation Project entitled "One Room and Early Schools of Lawrence County, Kentucky." Many items of the past are soon forgotten without these projects. There were 101 schools recognized in Lawrence County, KY. This is a list where many people attended school.

We invite the public to send anything that would add to this project. Do not send original pictures, only a copy, as they will not be returned.

The outline for sending information would be the school name, school number, year, teacher, picture, school memories and a detailed location of the school. Identification of as many people in any group pictures if possible.

Information may be sent to: 101 School Project, 2181 Highway 2565, Louisa, Kentucky or by calling 1-606-638-4995.
